September 1974

The Huntington American Revolution Bicentennial Committee is most pleased to cooperate with the Huntington Historical Society in publishing this long awaited index.

A three way cooperative effort of the New York State Council on the Arts, the Huntington Historical Society and the Huntington American Revolution Bicentennial Committee has made this index possible.

This is the first publication of any magnitude that the Committee has engaged in and it is hoped that it is the first of many. The complete index of the Long Islander will take many years to complete, but it was felt that we should not wait for its completion to go into publication.

At this time we are completing an index to the Long Islander of marriages and deaths for the years 1865 to 1880. This second index was compiled by Robert L. Simpson while he was Town Historian in the early 50's.

This index of marriages and deaths is intended as part of a larger partially completed index which will embrace in detail information on island leaders, business, social and cultural life, transportation changes, population shifts and other events which shaped Long Island.

Based largely on the methods by which the Williamsburg Gazette was indexed, I would like to thank Dr. Kenneth Scott, Emeritus Professor of History at Queens College, for his assistance in setting up this project.

Using symbols, we have listed each entry by date, page and column. Thus, when a name in the index is followed by an entry such as 10Je41:32, the researcher should turn to The Long-Islander of 10th June 1841, where he will find further information on page 3, column 2. For easy reference, listed here are the abbreviations used for each month:

Ja	January	My	May	Sp	September
F	February	Je	June	Oc	October
Mr	March	Jl	July	N	November
Ap	April	Ag	August	D	December

Although of most use to genealogists seeking information on vital statistics, this index of marriages and deaths reflects to some extent the life and times of Long Islanders from 1839 to 1864.

In its early years The Long-Islander served the whole of the island, so entries are found from towns, villages and hamlets from Queens to the eastern end of the island.

In the list of names, one may note the families of early settlers still living in areas founded by their ancestors almost two hundred years before the start of this newspaper. Reading the entries year by year, one observes the gradual movement of members of these old families to other Long Island areas and to Manhattan. They also fan out to the north, west and south in this country, and contemporary with this move we note the influx of immigrants from Europe. Most of these "newcomers" first arrived on Long Island as laborers and servants to the rising merchant class, but through hard work made the American dream a reality for their children, who in turn largely became tradesmen and artisans on the island.

Entries remind us of the shortness of life in these times, with many persons dying in their teens or early twenties, and often whole families being wiped out. Although few details are given, between the lines we recognize that tuberculosis was the major cause of death among young people, diphtheria, scarlet fever and other once dreaded diseases taking their toll. There is a strong and simple faith indicated by the wording of a number of entries, and of all occupations represented in the first twenty-five years of the publication, the clergy appeared to be the most respected and needed.

In the Civil War and other entries was evidenced the love and loyalty to home and country which will forever be the cornerstone of American life.

In retrospect, we note in these 19th century statistics, the initiative and strength of character which made America great.

Marian Stevens
